2010 ANNUAL REPORT
As the great recession brought on by the collapse of the residential housing market droned on, it set its sights on a second victim: the commercial real estate industry and the hundreds of thousands who were employed within it. As the storm worsened and the skies darkened what had for years been the third largest economic driver in the state began to wobble, to shake and finally collapse bringing hundreds of thousands to their knees. Layoffs and shut downs occurred daily. The workforce had been halved in just 18 months’ time. The devastation was everywhere. While the survivors were stunned into inaction one man felt compelled to step forward. He had an idea, a vision, about how to help those who were hurting. He sought the advice and assistance of kindred spirits who had also seen their friends, neighbors, vendors and competitors all cut off at the knees by this relentless recession.

On that fateful day in early November of 2008 they gathered in donated room after an industry meeting and planted the seed which would become Real Estate Lives. There were eight at that very first meeting and they were led by visionary Ron Weaver, a prominent Tampa-based land use attorney. By meeting’s end they were united by a shared vision; to help the hurting; to do what they could to lessen their load; to offer hope where there had been none. And they marched away from that first meeting, shoulder to shoulder, into the storm to wrench the hurting from the clutches of this vicious recession. “Come with us!” they shouted. “We’re here to help you. We’ll shelter you from the storm. We will feed your spirit and rekindle your heart. We are… Real Estate Lives.” And as they continued their journey into the storm to provide shelter and sustenance for the hurting, still others went out into the community to seek out the survivors to tell them to open their eyes and see the carnage this recession had wrought upon friend and foe alike. They asked them to reach into their hearts and fill their souls with compassion. They asked them to reach into their wallets and checkbooks to help the hurting. And so they did in amounts large and small; from individuals and corporations and when it mattered most, they stood up to be counted just as the Tampa Bay community has always done. It has never accepted defeat. It has never backed down from a challenge. It measures its fiber by the flags it carries and the gauntlets it throws down. And Real Estate Lives was the perfect vehicle at the perfect time to demonstrate the Tampa Bay community’s incredible resolve and indomitable spirit.

Real Estate Lives receives inquiries from across this great country and around the world asking “Who are you and how did you do this?” and the response is always the same. “We can’t tell you who we are. Come meet us. We can’t tell you how we did it. Come watch us. You can’t see this community’s heart but you can feel its beating drum reverberate throughout Tampa Bay, calling to the survivors and urging them to rebound.”
A MESSAGE FROM OUR CHAIRMAN

What an amazing journey the previous year has been! What we thought would be a temporary band-aid to staunch the ongoing flow of unemployment has instead been a beacon in the night to more than we ever imagined. Our goal to ease the hurting and put people back to work seemed simple enough in its formation. We were not aware our call would reach not just those in the Florida Commercial Real Estate market, but would move past industry boundaries to other markets, no less impacted by our national economic crisis. Our call to arms crossed state lines, with other groups from New York to Atlanta contacting Real Estate Lives to ask: “How did you accomplish all of this? What is your secret?” We were encouraged to know that our initiative was taking on a life of its own to help sustain others throughout our nation, though consistently surprised that our grass roots efforts here at home would be needed for so long, and become so far reaching.

The stories of hope that have come to us over the last year have only served to increase our drive to affect more change within the market. In the past year, we have posted over 1,000 positions on our exclusive on-line Job Board. To date, we have over 950 registered subscribers to our website, www.realestatelives.org. We have 446 registered REbounders that are either actively seeking employment, are currently under-employed, or have requested to remain active in our database when their search has ended. Most importantly, we have helped to put 452 people back to work. The most stunning aspect of these statistics is they were accomplished by a 100% volunteer base. Real Estate Lives volunteers have been there, offering a much-needed hand and shining a light into the darkness of unemployment.

In the past year there has been more than enough darkness in the world. We witnessed the incredible survival story of the Chilean miners, cut off from the world, struggling to survive for 69 days against all odds. The saving grace in their plight was their ability to band together and share what resources they had to sustain them all. A unique brotherhood was formed in that mine, a kindred spirit of hope and perseverance to which they would later credit their survival. When everything looked grim, and all reasonable hope of escape seemed lost, they leaned on each other, lifting each other up in their darkest moments with an undefeated, collective spirit of faith that eventually delivered them from despair.

Real Estate Lives is somewhat like that brotherhood. We have seen each other at our darkest moments, when the stresses and strains of daily life are compounded by the crushing blow of unemployment. When regular, everyday needs are not being financially or emotionally met, not just for the individual, but for entire families as well. We reach out then, one heart to another, sharing the resources we have been blessed to receive from generous Sponsors and ongoing supporters of our cause.

Real Estate Lives has continued to act as a much needed foothold between hope and despair for so many. Though we could not have fully anticipated what we would become, we are so thankful for the opportunity to help those who are hurting, shining a light into the darkness so they can better see the path ahead.

As we begin 2011, I am filled with hope for all of our REbounders. Just as we have over the course of the previous year, we will continue to light up the night. We will continue to share of our time, resources and knowledge, extending a hand to our fellow man, and woman, as we continue toward a brighter tomorrow, when every last REbounnder is back to work.

DIRECTIONS FROM THE NAVIGATOR

At this time last year many of us were wondering how long it would be before we could shut down operations because all of our REbounders had found employment and all of their needs were taken care of. Regrettably, it won’t be anytime in the predictable future. It seems that for every REbounder who finds employment, two more join us at one of our meetings. It is disheartening to know so many still need our help but truly heart-warming to know there are so many willing to lend a hand. Many of our volunteers, committee chairs or advisory committee members can only volunteer for a short while; however, when we lose one another equally talented individual fills the gap. We have been blessed and are grateful for the number, caliber, commitment and compassion of each of our Volunteers.

We have listened to our REbounders, heard their pleas and responded to their needs. Our highly specialized Small Groups were adapted and expanded. Attendance to all of our small groups has been wonderful and many close friendships have developed that will last beyond their job search.

We will continue to seek ways to address the needs of those who are hurting such as:

• Support our single REbounders with a new small group, REconnect
• Provide a support group for spouses of REbounders
• Enhance RETreat information/gift bags for first-time REbounders attendees
• Help the re-employed cope with fears and anxiety of returning to the workforce with REwork, another small group
• Provide support to national inquiries on how to emulate our model
• Develop Sponsorship Committee to secure necessary funding

Now that we are a 501(c)(3) organization, donations to our cause are tax deductible. A drive is underway to establish a general fund through which we can provide direct, short-term financial aid to our most needy, as well as fund the new and existing initiatives to reach the needs of our REbounders.

While we exist to serve all REbounders, those who are hurting the most deeply hold a special place in our hearts. We raised money to provide gift cards for meals during the holidays and hosted a Santa event for their children and grandchildren, complete with a gift card for toys. The generosity of those we approach within our community is overwhelming. Many have stepped up time and time again.

God bless each of the more than 1,000 individuals and companies who have come forth and enabled us to carry on our mission. We are grateful for your support and will continue to seek your support and sing your praises as we continue with our mission to reach the needs of our REbounders.

As we look toward 2011, we continue to have concern for our economy and especially the Real Estate industry; however, we will continue to be hopeful and most of all, we remain committed to doing all we can to meet the needs of our REbounders.

LEADERSHIP

Real Estate Lives’ leadership is comprised of executives from within the Bay Area’s commercial real estate industry. The original eight founders have been augmented. As of this date the Executive Committee numbers 24 dedicated volunteers from within and from outside the commercial real estate industry. This Leadership group was subsequently renamed the Advisory Committee. They tirelessly give of themselves with most devoting more than 20 hours a month to furthering the goals and objectives of Real Estate Lives.

After much deliberation and debate, the Executive Committee made the unanimous decision in mid-2010 that Real Estate Lives’ mission would be best served by pursuing non-profit status. It had previously been structured as a working taskforce of NAIOP. The 501(c)(3) application to the IRS was prepared and submitted in December of 2010, and Real Estate Lives is now a recognized 501(c)(3) organization. In accordance with IRS guidelines, Real Estate Lives elected a President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer and a Board of Directors. This was accomplished in December of 2010. With appointment as an officer or board member comes IRS dictated responsibilities and liabilities which all officers and board members willingly accepted. All donations to Real Estate Lives are now tax deductible.

An award-winning platform speaker and expert facilitator, Mr. McEachnie is considered by peers a visionary in leading companies to maximizing human capital potential. His key accomplishments include leading a national franchise to rapid turnaround one month early, creating company that was rated #3 in the US and sold 2.5 years early from exit plan date, and coaching a leading retail organization to reinvent the company, reversing a $50K loss into profit in four months. Mr. McEachnie has authored numerous professional articles and has presented over 100 speeches at professional forums internationally.
During calendar year 2010 there were eight companies and organizations who, by virtue of the amount of their financial and in-kind support, stood taller than all others. We recognize those caring companies and organizations as Real Estate Lives Patrons.

We are humbled by their generosity. As with Real Estate Lives sponsors we ask that you support Real Estate Lives Patrons. Both groups represent the giving and caring heart of the Tampa Bay community.

Commercial Real Estate Women (CREW)
Our members are professionals in all disciplines relating to commercial real estate. Our mission is to advance the success of our members by providing opportunities and resources that foster productive and supportive relationships and enhance personal and professional growth.

Greater Tampa Association of Realtors (GTAR)
We unite those engaged in the recognized branches of the real estate profession for the purpose of exerting a beneficial influence upon the profession and related interest groups. In addition, we provide and maintain high standards of conduct in the real estate profession as expressed in the Code of Ethics of the National Association of REALTORS®.

The Howard Johnson Plaza Hotel
Throughout North America, each Howard Johnson® property is committed to transforming your Howard Johnson stay into a happy, memorable experience. So, if there is something -- such as an extra pillow, more bathroom amenities or dining suggestions -- that would make your stay even better, please notify us at the front desk and we’ll do what we can to make it happen.

Commercial Real Estate Development Association (NAIOP)
Our mission is to provide the commercial and industrial real estate industry with a visionary, beneficial and responsive association. We provide member education, facilitate communication, foster business opportunities and promote effective public policy. The association is committed to improving the professionalism of the individual, the image of the industry and the quality of life in our communities.

Real Estate Investment Council (REIC) of Tampa
The Real Estate Investment Council (“REIC”) is a Tampa Bay organization of a wide range of professionals having an interest in commercial real estate. Its purposes are to (a) inform its members of the latest business and financial news affecting commercial real estate; (b) create a forum for the exchange of ideas; and (c) provide a setting for members to develop new business contacts.

RealWired!
Brenda Dohring Hicks is founder and CEO of RealWired!, a consulting and software company. Brenda’s mission is to “streamline the commercial real estate process” by focusing on process and collaboration. She is a frequent speaker focusing on the value of building “eco-systems” of cooperation and examining processes and technology’s role in enhancing communication to expedite growth.
Strayer University
Strayer University strives to help adult students earn degrees as conveniently as possible as they balance the many responsibilities of their busy lives. We provide an affordable, quality education in a supportive environment and have been helping working adults continue their education to advance their careers since 1892.

The Westin Tampa Bay Hotel
At Westin, our goal is that you leave feeling better than when you arrived. From our Heavenly Bed® and Bath to WestinWORKOUT®, we strive to develop experiences that help you be at your best in mind, body and spirit.

REAL FRIENDS OF REAL ESTATE LIVES
In 2008 when Real Estate Lives changed its status from a vision to a reality it had no legal status. That was a problem. They could live without a legal address. They could live without a permanent home. They could live without a lot of things but what they couldn’t live without was legal standing. As leadership from CREW helped road map REL’s future and as Real Estate Lives struggled to get to its feet, a champion arose to lend a helping hand both physically and financially to this fledgling organization. That champion was and is NAIOP, and Real Estate Lives’ gratitude toward that magnificent and benevolent organization is boundless. They kept our books. They wrote our checks. They gave us legal standing as a working task force of NAIOP. REIC soon jumped in and provided seed money in the amount of $5,000 to fund those programs which serve and have served so many REbounders and their families. They continued to show their support with additional $5,000 grants in 2010 and 2011. When Real Estate Lives seeks donations to help fund special events, NAIOP, REIC and GTAR are always among the first to step up. NAIOP funded the most recent Valentine’s Dinner Dance for REbounders and their significant others in the amount of $1,000. REIC also contributed $600 in ’09 to help purchase Thanksgiving turkeys for REbounders and their families who might not have had one were it not for their generosity. At Christmas, GTAR raised and donated just about the same amount to help with the costs of Christmas dinners.

And so as Real Estate Lives spreads its wings and leaves the nest as a 501(c)(3), it is from the bottom of our hearts that we say thank you NAIOP, REIC, CREW and GTAR for the trust and faith you have shown in us and the support you so readily gave and continue to give to us. Real Estate Lives has no better friends than these magnificent organizations.

LEGAL STATUS

Shortly after Real Estate Lives was formed, leadership realized that in order to be able to raise and dispense funds, they needed to become some sort of legal entity. As the founders were focused on the commercial real estate industry, they naturally gravitated toward trade groups from within the industry who enjoyed legal standing. Real Estate Lives' founder was also a long-time board member of NAIOP. He approached their board and made inquiry as to their interest in “adopting” this fledgling organization. In February of 2010 Real Estate Lives became a recognized task force of the Tampa Bay Chapter of NAIOP. Not long thereafter questions were raised as to whether Real Estate Lives’ true calling was to be recognized as a non-profit. By mid-summer and after much debate, several Real Estate Lives volunteer attorneys took on, pro bono, the laborious task of preparing the formal IRS application for non-profit status. The application was filed in August and approved in early January 2011 with approval status retroactive back to August 20, 2010. Real Estate Lives is now a fully approved 501(c)(3) not for profit corporation and as such, all donations to Real Estate Lives are fully tax deductible. This represents a major step in the evolution of this remarkable organization. Deductibility of previous donations had been limited to the extent the donation was a usual and customary business expense. Tax deductible donations can have a positive impact for donors. Non-profit status also means Real Estate Lives can now apply for both public and private grants. As always, the REbounders themselves will be the recipients of any increase in donations and additional revenue streams through additional training offerings, HR partnering events, corporate events and family events. Non-profit status marks the beginning of a new day for this already hugely successful organization.

FINANCE

Real Estate Lives is funded entirely through the generosity of the Tampa Bay community. Individuals and corporations donate cash and volunteer their time which allows the organization to expand its service delivery platform and grow. As the volume of people who come to Real Estate Lives for help grows, so must revenue increase to meet those needs. At the annual meeting of the Strategic Planning Committee, the organization’s leadership takes the measure of existing initiatives, evaluates their effectiveness and makes decisions as to which ones should be expanded or cut. The New Initiatives Committee presents its slate and seeks approval and funding. Real Estate Lives is constantly evolving and volunteers and resources which are sufficient for today will not necessarily be sufficient for tomorrow. This is one of the reasons Real Estate Lives pursued 501(c)(3) status. This status allows the organization to seek funding from more sources so growth can continue and services can be expanded. None of Real Estate Lives’ volunteers receive compensation of any kind. During calendar year 2010 Real Estate Lives was the recipient of $17,616.00 in cash donations.

VOLUNTEERS/MEMBERSHIP

People come to Real Estate Lives for help; not just for help with finding a job but also help with their day to day lives and expenses. They seek solutions for problems. They need a friendly face to point them in the right direction. They need to be exposed to resources put in place to help them through this difficult time, but most of all they need to feel welcome and that they are not alone. If they come to their first meeting and don’t feel comfortable or welcome they won’t be back. Each and every potential REbouncer is met at the doorway to the General Meeting with a friendly handshake and a warm “Welcome.”

The second vital mission of the Volunteer/Membership Committee is to recruit and route volunteers into paths of service throughout the group. Real Estate Lives is a volunteer organization, made up of 100% volunteers. There are no staff or hired individuals. Every single resource, event, service or media link is provided to REbouncers by the donation of time, skills and resources from its dedicated group of volunteers focused on helping Tampa Bay get back to work. The Volunteer/Membership committee provides support to all other committees. Specifically, when another committee has a big event coming up, has lost a member that went back to work, or is starting a new initiative, the V/M committee recruits and routes new people, their talents and resources to fulfill that unmet need and continue the momentum of the group’s push for re-employment.

NEW INITIATIVES

Since inception Real Estate Lives has greatly expanded its service platform. Typically, a volunteer learns from a REbounder of a need which is not being met. The volunteer would then take it to the appropriate chairman and discuss possible vehicles for addressing that need. If it is their conclusion there are a sufficient number of REbounders with the same need the chairman brings up the need and potential vehicle for addressing same at the next scheduled Executive Committee conference call. If the Executive Committee is in agreement, determinations are made as to leadership, meeting space and funding, if necessary. When all issues have been adequately addressed, the vehicle is announced in the newsletter and on the website along with a schedule of meetings and meeting places. There were many who felt the new initiatives process was cumbersome and time consuming; that it took too long after identifying the need to get the vehicle in place to address it. Accordingly, it was determined the process could be streamlined by centralizing it. The New Initiatives committee was formed and its chairman appointed. Henceforth, the committee chairman presents the entire package to the Executive Committee for an up/down vote. What had previously taken several months to implement can now be done in a matter of weeks. The REbuilders and REnew small groups are the first beneficiaries of this streamlined process.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

The buzz about Real Estate Lives in 2010 was nothing short of extraordinary, not only in the Tampa Bay area but around the nation. Stories about the mission of Real Estate Lives were featured in publications, such as The Tampa Tribune, The St. Pete Times, Tampa Bay Business Journal, Florida Trend, The American Planners Association newsletter and various other periodicals. Also, Real Estate Lives launched a highly successful social media campaign in an effort to further reach the community. A part of this campaign was a Facebook page which has steadily grown since its creation in May. By December 2010 the page had surpassed 3,000 post views. These media efforts have driven others in different parts of the country to embrace the mission of Real Estate Lives as their own and work to grow a network in their own cities. Looking forward to 2011 the coverage of this non-profit organization will grow simply because of its unique ability to engage the community and get its members back to work.
EMPLOYMENT RESOURCES/JOB MINING

Employment RESources is the Real Estate Lives entry portal. Members become official REbounders once they submit their resumes to Employment RESources. At the REbounders’ requests, Employment RESources forwards their resumes to the Resume Committee for review and recommendations.

Employment RESources also provides REbounders with log-in information so they may access the proprietary Job Postings which are located on the Real Estate Lives website. Job openings are posted daily and the board is swept clean monthly. A typical month will see as many as 85 new job leads. Many of the postings are provided to Real Estate Lives on an exclusive basis for a period of time. Postings may be submitted by anyone but the Job Mining Committee is specifically tasked with uncovering them. Employment RESources also maintains both the REbinder and volunteer data bases and disseminates information to the entire Real Estate Lives community regarding meeting dates, special events, training schedules, etc. via the website. Employment RESources is a core function and was started simultaneously with the creation of the organization.

In calendar year 2010 Employment RESources registered 310 new REbounders and posted 1,027 new job openings.

In calendar year 2010 the Job Mining Committee, which for the year totaled 40 volunteers, held three events for HR managers and staffing companies, mined 580 jobs and helped place 178 REbounders. The Resume Committee reviewed 117 resumes in 2010.

First Hour - First Hour is intended to identify new REbounders as quickly as possible after they are discharged from their jobs. A volunteer/mentor reaches out to them as soon as he/she is made aware of their job loss and offers assistance to them by connecting them with Real Estate Lives. They are invited to attend a REL general meeting and to learn of the organization which exists only to help people exactly like them through this traumatic period. A volunteer/mentor presents the REbounder with a REtreat Kit of helpful resources to demonstrate to them how seriously REL takes reaching out to them. The idea is to help them transition from being unemployed to becoming an active REbounder as seamlessly as possible. They learn quickly they are not alone. The very same thing has happened to other very bright and talented people who are now either a REbounder and/or one of our valued volunteers. In 2010 more than 150 REtreat Kits were distributed to new REbounders.

First Needs - Real Estate Lives has partnered with many local agencies, businesses, individuals, etc., who offer either free or greatly discounted goods and services such as food sources, utilities assistance, private and public healthcare options, free medical clinics, free or discounted prescription drugs, foreclosure workshops, financial planning and unemployment information. REbounders are made aware of the length and breadth of these services through their newly assigned mentor, by visiting the REL website, attending the general meetings or by reading the monthly newsletter.

REbuilders - REbuilders is a peer facilitated support group which provides a confidential, safe and casual atmosphere with the goal of stimulating REbounders to talk about anything on their minds: e.g., stress, discouragement, relationship issues, self-esteem or fear. Real Estate Lives does not provide professional counselors but does provide good listeners. REbuilders provides the ideal setting for REbounders to take their game faces off and deal with the emotional aspects of job loss. REbounders who attend these REbuilder group meetings consistently provide testimonies that they feel better having attended because they were able to open up and share their concerns and fears with truly caring individuals. The group members are willing to accept and implement the support and advice which REbuilders offers them. Since June of 2009, REbuilders has held meetings every 2nd and 4th Wednesday of the month. In calendar year 2010, approximately 144 REbounders availed themselves of the peer counseling provided through REbuilders while typically 2-3 Real Estate Lives volunteers led the discussions.

REnew Bible Study - REnew is a Bible study offered to all REbounders. It began in December 2009 by DeBartolo Development, a Real Estate Lives sponsor, to encourage and bring hope to REbounders. The meetings began at DeBartolo Development and the first meeting was attended by 12 REbounders. In October, 2010 the facilitators of REnew were able to secure a meeting room at the Westshore Ramada Inn where the average attendance grew to about 60, including REbounders and other Westshore business people. This initiative has provided REbounders hope and a means of spiritual growth which naturally leads to a more peaceful and serene inner self through prayer and fellowship with others in similar life struggles.

SMALL GROUPS/MENTORS/PHONE BANK

SMALL GROUPS
As Real Estate Lives evolved it became obvious to leadership that the twice monthly General Meetings lacked the intimacy and time to address REbounder needs and wants. Thus, a need was recognized for smaller meetings where a limited number of REbounders could get to know each other on a personal basis. Small Groups were created in February of 2009 to address this need. Small Groups are generally limited to 10 to 12 participants. The actual number of Small Groups can vary but at its core there are four Small Groups and they serve a variety of needs. A Small Group named REconnect was recently created to address the unique needs and challenges of single REbounders which vary significantly from the needs and challenges of those with families. Earlier in the year a Small Group named RENew was created to deal with spiritual development through Bible study. That group was over-subscribed from the first meeting. No matter what the Small Group’s theme, over time solid friendships are formed and information is shared regarding what type of position the REbounder is seeking and how each can help one another achieve that objective. In fact, so close do the Small Group members become that several Small Groups maintain their own social calendars.

Meetings are held at various locations throughout the city and all but the singles Small Group (REconnect) meet for two hours once a week, generally from 11:00 am to 1:00 pm. REconnect also meets once a week but in the early evening. A new Small Group, Rework, is being formed to address the needs and deep concerns of those who have actually gone back to work. Long layoffs have left them scared and they fear a repeat of the last layoff. During calendar year 2010, 175 Small Group meetings were held with a total attendance of 1,200 REbounders.

MENTORS
Real Estate Lives began offering mentoring services two months after the organization was founded. Mentors provide encouragement, accountability and also bond with the REbounder through shared experiences. A mentor is a good listener with a broad based knowledge of services offered by Real Estate Lives and can direct the Mentee to the appropriate services as needed. Approximately 5 to 10 REbounders are mentored each month. In calendar year 2010, 97 REbounders were mentored.

PHONE BANK
Real Estate Lives stays in contact with REbounders throughout their job search process. One of the ways this is done is through a cadre of volunteers who contact the REbounders twice a month to remind them about General Meetings, let them know who is scheduled to be the next 15-Minute Coach, what special events or new training offerings are available and, in general, let them know someone is thinking about them and cares. The phone bank volunteers are typically responsible for calls to 6 or 7 REbounders each and are trained to ask how their searches are going and direct the REbounders to any of the free services provided by Real Estate Lives which may further their objectives. The positive feedback consistently received from REbounders marks the Phone Bank as one of Real Estate Lives’ most successful programs. During calendar year 2010, 32 volunteers made 4,800 telephone calls to REbounders.

A volunteer was once asked to summarize exactly what it is that Real Estate Lives does. The volunteer’s incredibly succinct and precise answer was “We round ‘em up, coach ‘em up and send ‘em out.” If there is, in fact, one core function of Real Estate Lives which exceeds all others, it is training. The results the dedicated trainers have achieved have been remarkable. The three lead trainers are each highly respected, professional, career development coaches. Two own their own career development companies while the third is an executive within the world famous Dale Carnegie Institute. Their teachings have been augmented by five subject specialists. The number of REbounders coached and the array of subject matter taught is staggering: 36 distinct courses to 1,413 students (REbounders). On average, most of the courses are free to REbounders (sometimes there’s a small fee for materials) and the instructors aren’t paid, yet the results are nothing short of miraculous!

WEBSITE - Leadership realized early on the mercurial make up of the organization. They were volunteers and the availability of any specific volunteer could change at any time. They could move away. Their job and/or family obligations could change. Their health could take an unanticipated turn. For the organization to survive and thrive it needed a central touchstone. With the donation of bandwidth from a founder’s company they found a home; a virtual home but a home nonetheless. Realestatelives.org was their new home; their new address. Within it they kept their records, their calendars, their notices, their membership list, their volunteer list, their donor list, their financial information, their newsletter, their annual report, their event photo albums, etc. But most of all it contained their job board. The job board contained exclusive, non-exclusive and fresh job postings to which registered REbounders could refer as they sought to get back into the game. The job board typically contains 85 new job postings per month. They are updated daily and wiped clean monthly. The entire site is designed to make it simple to use and modify as well as easy to replicate for those from across the nation and around the world who seek to duplicate Real Estate Lives’ mission and accomplishments.

INFRASTRUCTURE (continued)

PUBLICATIONS - Real Estate Lives publishes a monthly newsletter which has a subscriber base of more than 700, a volunteer full-time staff of six and an occasional staff of four additional volunteers. Its pages contain articles and features covering everything REbounders need to know to enhance their job hunting experiences. There’s a listing of scheduled meetings and training events, there are reviews of the “15-Minute Coaches” who speak to the REbounders at the general meetings about dark moments in their lives and how they sustained themselves and motivated themselves until the dark clouds passed. On two occasions in 2010 a 15-Minute Coach received a standing ovation. This was only the third time that has happened since the organization’s inception. There are columns covering Small Groups, Social Media and Training, and a Feature Column covering issues of the day. It contains a directory of networking groups and news clips about new companies in the area and who to contact within their HR department. Family events are covered and accompanied by full color photos of the event with links to Photobucket albums containing all the photos from any given event so the attendees and parents can download pictures of their children and print them.

Real Estate Lives published its first ever Annual Report in January of 2010. Copies of both the Newsletter and Annual Report can be found in the media section of the website (www.realestatelives.org).

CORPORATE EVENTS

Real Estate Lives holds various events throughout the year to raise awareness, thank sponsors and solicit job postings. 2010 saw a focus of HR managers and staffing companies. Each event generally produced new sponsors, volunteers and connections with those who do the hiring and/or those who submit the candidates to them. They are typically held at a local restaurant. During calendar year 2010 three HR and Staffing Partnering Events, one Sponsor Appreciation Event, and one Pancake and Waffle Breakfast Event were held. The latter was somewhat like a verbal annual report where sponsors were acknowledged and thanked as were the tireless volunteers who make it possible for Real Estate Lives to help so many.

FAMILY EVENTS

As Real Estate Lives evolved, Leadership learned the lack of employment for one or both breadwinners impacted the lives of all family members. Vacations were shortened or eliminated. Holidays were abbreviated or cancelled. Youth activities which required a fee to participate were just not possible. Real Estate Lives took on the job of providing fun, free family events at least once a quarter so the entire family could have fun together at no cost. Past events have included: Take me Out to the Ball Game at Steinbrenner Field for a barbeque and a baseball game, Pack to School Ice Cream Social on the Westin Hotel’s private beach for games, contests, ice cream and sodas with a complimentary backpack filled with school supplies for each kid that attended, Milk and Cookies with Santa with games, crafts and presents for the children.

In February, in recognition of the emotional rocks the REbounders lean on every day, Real Estate Lives held its first Valentine’s Day Dinner Dance. A catered dinner was served for approximately 50. The REbounders and their significant others who had supported them during their unemployment odyssey danced the night away to a live, professional female vocalist as well as to recorded music.

There was a two-hour boat trip around Tampa Harbor with a guide. It was both educational and fun. Approximately 100 RE-bounders and children attended. This was the second year the tour was held.

In 2010 Real Estate Lives held its first Family Summer Picnic at Philippe Park. Approximately 150 REbounders, volunteers and their families attended. There were games, contests, rides and an All-American Barbeque. Family pets were also welcomed.

Milk and Cookies with Santa was held in a private meeting room in the grand ballroom of the Westin hotel. Approximately 50 REbounders and children attended. This was the second year for this event. There was Santa and Mrs. Claus to regale the children and provide them holiday gift cards and other holiday gift items. There were also cupcakes, cookie decorating, crafts, caroling and a special reading of “‘Twas the Night Before Christmas” by Santa, himself. A professional photographer, who is also a Real Estate Lives volunteer and staff member of the Real Estate Lives Newsletter, was there to take pictures of the kids with Santa and make them available to the parents at no cost.

At Christmas, 26 gift cards totaling $390.00 were presented to REbounders. On Thanksgiving, 47 gift cards totaling $705.00 were presented to REbounders, for a grand total of $1,095.00 in gift cards for REbounders to help with expenses during the holidays.

For calendar year 2010, Real Estate Lives held three Family Events and several other special events that were for REbounders only. The total attendance for all of these events was over 500.

INSPIRATION

Beyond the immediate needs assistance, job mining and training provided, the Real Estate Lives organization also focuses on the spirit of the REbounders. Toward that end, at each General Meeting Real Estate Lives provides a 15-Minute Coach who shares with the REbounders his/her own story of challenges and strife and strategies to overcome them.

The 15-Minute Coaches are cautioned against so called “stump speeches” and encouraged to speak from the heart. All of their stories have been met with applause, some with standing ovations and even a few with long lines just to shake their hands. 15-Minute coaches are not compensated.

In calendar year 2010, the following 15-Minute Coaches spoke at the Real Estate Lives General Meetings:

JANUARY    Bob Moore, Effectiveness, Inc.
Pastor Dan Dunn, Real Life Church

FEBRUARY   Rob Barber, Broderick Realty
Steve Van Ooteghem, Universal Seminars of America

MARCH      Chandra Alexander, Coaching for Authenticity

APRIL      Josue Hegg, University of Phoenix

THANK YOUS

I apologize for the delayed follow up with you. I have a great excuse. I got a new job! It is in commercial real estate, doing admin work and I’ve been busy getting personal things taken care of for the past couple weeks. Thank you so much for your help during my job search. Your help and Real Estate Lives kept me positive. I really appreciate it! Take care, Julie

To REL,
A construction superintendent, that would be me, accepted a position in Orlando. The opportunity would include buildout and remodeling at Lockheed Martin. I am looking forward to being productive. Thank you God, and to those that mentioned me in prayer, thank you. Real Estate Lives is a resource of caring people who have always been an encouragement to me. Also want to thank Jim Rodgers of Job Seekers located at Bell Shoals Baptist Church in Brandon in building my Job Seeker skill set, the tools for pursuing the opportunity. Larry LaBelle, thank you for trainingtamer.com, a good box of tools. I am one of the 7% who threw my resume into the dark hole of the Internet at a non-descriptive superintendent job. Did not even look up the website until I was called for an interview. I scurried to their website to first find their mission statement and particulars of their company. The morning of the interview I showed up 45 minutes early, the first person slept in and they asked me in half an hour early which gave me a one and a half hour interview. Applicants 160, interviews 12 minus one, they asked me to accept the position. My prayer would be God help me to fulfill the needs of this company and to grow as a leader to be a guide to others by my conduct.

My best regards, Duane

Dear REL,
I had a final interview meeting today and just wanted to let you all know that I just landed my 1st contract job with a local engineering company. They liked my resume and Power Point presentation; so everyone, I used the info that we are learning from our great teachers.

They are getting me the drawings to review and mark up by the end of week and I will work on them next week. I will actually have to report some income which I will be so happy to do. $300 per week just does not cover it!

God is so good! This is the 1st of at least 3 projects that I will be doing over the next few months, so we will have a Christmas after all. I know my wife will be excited knowing we will have some money to pay the bills without stealing from the IRAs.

Thanks for all the prayers. See some of you at iWorks tonight and REL on Wednesday. Have a great week. Thanks, Cliff

Dear REL,
I attend a wonderful Real Estate Lives small group on Thursday mornings that is facilitated by Jack Brubaker. I have also attended a couple of REL meetings at GTAR. Since I joined Real Estate Lives I found my way to Tweeners at St. Paul’s, iWork at Idlewild, JSAG by Larry LaBelle...

These are all fantastic support groups! Had I not run across Charles Caro at the first WorkForce Alliance Professional Networking Group I attended, I would not know about any of these groups! As an out of work Residential Estimator (also capable as an Administrative Assistant) I introduced myself at the PNG meeting and during the break Charles came up to me and told me I needed to go to REL!!

I want to personally thank YOU for having founded Real Estate Lives!! I have no idea if you really know how many lives you have impacted by this generous sacrifice of time, resources, etc. to organize and begin this group...but I know you have impacted mine!

But again, I just wanted to take the time with writing a message that said THANK YOU! I appreciate it! And I appreciate all that every one of the volunteers in all the groups is doing for all of us! Thank you, Joyce

Dear REL,
I’m in the process of registering on the website but I wanted to thank you and everyone else at yesterday’s meeting for your warmth and support. What a lovely idea to give out movie passes! We can all use some cheering up but who can afford the movies these days? Problem solved! And if that weren’t enough, we newcomers got a short orientation to the group AND a wonderful goodie bag with a Target gift card!

This was truly overwhelming and I so appreciated it. Being alone & looking for work is VERY scary. Thanks to all of you for your support and for making the situation just a bit easier; at least for a time. ~Rosemary
